Malcolm Thomas,

At the Annual General Meeting, Ian Gibson (the outgoing INCOSE UK President) took the opportunity to wish Malcolm Thomas every success as he takes over as President. Ian also presented Kirsty Akroyd-Wallis, the outgoing Immediate Past President, with an award. Malcolm noted that during Ian's Presidency, INCOSE UK had achieved several milestones as it continues to evolve into the "go to" Professional Engineering Institute for Systems Engineering in the UK and thanked him for driving these through; he also noted that Ian had successfully steered INCOSE UK through the COVID Pandemic and back to the "new normal".

Andrew Pemberton,
President-elect

Malcolm said: "As I step into the role of President, I am excited to be continuing the Council's excellent work in establishing INCOSE UK as an Institute with a growing membership and a broader involvement in the wider UK Engineering community."

New President Elect, Andrew Pemberton, stated: "I am elated to be taking on this role in the organisation that is leading the way for systems engineering across the UK, it is an exciting time to be involved and we are in a great position to meet the challenges in a world of ever-increasing complexity."

INCOSE UK

INCOSE UK is a Professional Engineering Institution licensed by the Engineering Council.

INCOSE UK acts as the UK Chapter of the International Council on Systems Engineering (INCOSE), a not-for-profit membership organisation founded to develop and disseminate the interdisciplinary principles and practices that enable the realisation of successful systems.

INCOSE UK holds an annual conference and a set of training events each year; has active regional, working and special interest groups; and publishes a variety of books, guides and other products tailored for UK members. Despite its focus on UK-specific needs, INCOSE UK attracts members from all around the globe. The 'flavour' of Systems Engineering most prevalent in the UK has developed into an open and inclusive practice that facilitates the application of Systems Thinking and Systems Engineering principles in domains outside of the traditional domains of defence and aerospace. In recent years, the membership of INCOSE UK has widened significantly from its roots, expanding to include domains such as: automotive, rail, energy, civil engineering, space, medicine, and security.
